What's Needed Now?
...to end the
400-Year Legacy of Inequality

Tuesday, January 29

Heritage UU Church,
2710 Newtown Road, 45244

The year 2019 marks the 400th year since the arrival of the first slave ship at Jamestown. Slavery has ended. Civil Rights laws have been passed. But racism continues.

Here in Cincinnati, the rates of childhood poverty and shortened life expectancy fall heavily on People of Color.

Rev. Damon Lynch, known city-wide as a pastor and civil rights leader, discusses what's needed now.
