SOLD INTO SLAVERY

1619 FIRST STOLEN AFRICANS BROUGHT TO JAMESTOWN VA

WT 1 FIRST AFRICANS IN ENGLISH AMERICA

The first documented Africans in English America arrived at Jamestown in August 1619. A Dutch man-of-war captured them from the Spanish, who had enslaved them, and sold them to the Virginia colonists. The "twenty and odd" Africans, one of whom had been given a Spanish name, have been treated like indentured servants, freed after their periods of service. From this beginning the institution of slavery evolved during the 17th century. The colonists extended the length of the term from a fixed term to life, and slavery in 1865.
